100 Loyal Faces

As many of you have undoubtedly noticed, we love pets. We care for them, respect them, advocate for them, and of course take as many cute pictures of them as we possibly can. That's why we support projects that endeavor to protect them wherever they might be in the world. When we heard about 100 Loyal Faces, a charitable project started by photographer Peta Santoro to support the Soi Dog Foundation, we jumped at the opportunity to raise awareness of her efforts. Peta, a proud pet owner herself, has taken the initiative to photograph and collage 100 canine headshots. She will be donating all profits from her masterpiece to the Soi Dog Foundation, a not-for-profit organization that takes in and protects homeless, neglected or abused dogs and cats in Thailand.
